Introduction:

The Research and Post Graduate Department of Physics at St. Aloysius' College, Edathua, successfully organized the Prof. Varghese Mathew Endowment Elocution Competition on March 13, 2025. The event aimed to provide a platform for students to showcase their oratory skills and raise awareness about the critical issue of mental health.

Theme:

The theme of the competition was "Mental Health Awareness: A Growing Need." This topic was chosen to highlight the increasing importance of mental well-being in today's society and to encourage open discussions about mental health challenges.

Participants:

A total of six students participated in the competition, representing various departments within the college. The participants demonstrated a keen understanding of the topic and presented their perspectives with clarity and conviction.

Winners:

The competition was judged by a panel of esteemed faculty members, who evaluated the participants based on their content, delivery, and overall impact. The winners were:

- First Prize: Ruth Susan Koshy, II MSc Physics
- Second Prize: Seethal S, III BSc Physics
- Third Prize: Ashly Anil, I BSc Honours Physics

Event Highlights:

The elocution competition was a resounding success, with participants delivering thought-provoking speeches that resonated with the audience. The event not only showcased the students' oratory talents but also contributed to raising awareness about the importance of mental health.

The audience was deeply engaged, and the competition fostered a sense of empathy and understanding towards mental health issues.

Conclusion:

The Prof. Varghese Mathew Endowment Elocution Competition 2025 was a significant event that successfully achieved its objectives. The Department of Physics extends its heartfelt congratulations to the winners and all the participants for their outstanding performances. The event served as a valuable platform for students to express their views on a crucial social issue and contributed to creating a more informed and supportive environment regarding mental health.
